

EXECUTIVE PROTECTION

The WORLD PROTECTION GROUP, Inc.[®]

"We Protect Your World"

The World Protection Group, Inc.[®] – a full-service, international firm specializing in executive security – protects clients from any type of threat, invasion of privacy, random crime, and unnecessary embarrassment. The firm's philosophy and techniques emphasize proactive and preventive protection using methods based on the U.S. Secret Service.

3 RINGS OF PROTECTION: The World Protection Group [WPG] protocol is based on the U.S. Secret Service's "3 rings of protection." The firm layers security around the client and his/her residence and workplace. Techniques include barriers, alarms, walls and gates, surveillance and counter surveillance, access control, protective intelligence, armored vehicles, counterassault teams, and close-protection agents. The tactic provides maximum protection and minimum intrusion to the client.

ADVANCE WORK: Executive Protection [EP] agents visit all points of a client's itinerary prior to his/her arrival. Agents assess threats and gather protective intelligence, and then write a security plan that includes primary and secondary routes, nearest trauma hospitals, safe rooms, rest rooms, and front and back entrances. Agents meet in advance with key personnel at each location and always have back-up plans ready to avert a possible threat. The WPG maintains a library of continuously updated advance information for each client and each frequent location they visit.

HIGHEST STANDARDS: EP agents have law enforcement or military experience, preferably with Special Forces. They also have graduated from an accredited U.S. executive protection training academy. Each WPG EP agent undergoes extensive background searches, employment verification, and tests to screen drug use and determine psychological and physical fitness. The WPG does not provide bodyguards. Executive protection is not about fighting, using a gun, or hiring an off-duty policeman. It is proactive and preventive so that no security incident ever occurs.

DISCRETION: WPG EP agents often become exposed to intimate details of an executive's business or an individual's private life. Each of the firm's agents signs a strictly enforced confidentiality agreement.

FOCUS: The WPG rotates EP agents in and out of a detail so they do not become compliant and potentially breach the professional barrier of becoming too close to the client.

RESPONSIBILITY: The WPG carries $5 million in armed liability and workman's compensation insurance to shield clients from any lawsuit resulting from potential use of lethal force. The WPG minimizes risk and liability, where in-house security will typically be a source of potential liability for an individual or organization.

PEACE OF MIND: The WPG provides a seamless, full-service security program and manages scheduling, training, background checks, and other initiatives to meet the specific needs of each client from the start of a security detail. The WPG continually revises operations as the client's needs change.

The World Protection Group can send its EP agents to any area of the world, but can also vet standards of any foreign EP agents. The WPG procures protective intelligence with U.S. and foreign intelligence organizations prior to any protective detail and has the ability to mobilize armored vehicles, 24-hour command centers, encrypted cell phones and private air transportation as necessary.

WPG EP agents are certified in the following areas:

Protective Advances • Protective Intelligence • Radio Communications • Motorcades and Routes • Firearms and Special Tactics • Public Affairs and Media Control • Emergency First Aid (CPR/AED) • Counter-terrorist Driving • Explosive Device Detection • Surveillance Recognition • Ambush Recognition • Post Assignments • Cover and Evacuate • Counter Surveillance • Protective Formations • Command Post Operations • Access Control and Crowd Control • Bomb Incident Management • Safeguarding Privacy • Threat Management • Evasive Driving • Investigations • Kidnap/Assassination Studies

The World Protection Group

866.550.4319 • www.theworldprotectiongroup.com • info@theworldprotectiongroup.com
Beverly Hills, CA • New York, NY • Scottsdale, AZ • Mexico City, Mexico